INTRODUCTION

The referenced application, including the "Change Address or Representation Form" filed on 10/13/2022, has been reviewed by the assigned trademark examining attorney.

The submitted "Change Address or Representation Form" included a revocation of the power of attorney; however, it was not properly signed because a new attorney signed the revocation rather than applicant or someone with legal authority to bind applicant. See 37 C.F.R. §§2.19(a)(1), 2.193(e)(3); TMEP §§604.03, 606. Thus, the USPTO will not process this revocation and will continue to recognize the current attorney of record as applicant's representative. See TMEP §§604.03, 606.

Applicant must respond timely and completely to the issue(s) below. 15 U.S.C. §1062(b); 37 C.F.R. §§2.62(a), 2.65(a); TMEP §§711, 718.03.

SUMMARY OF ISSUES:

- REFUSAL - SECTION 2(d) - LIKELIHOOD OF CONFUSION
- POTENTIAL REFUSAL - PRIOR-FILED APPLICATIONS
- REQUIREMENT - DISCLAIMER

REFUSAL - SECTION 2(d) - LIKELIHOOD OF CONFUSION

Registration of the applied-for mark is refused because of a likelihood of confusion with the mark(s) in the following U.S. Registration(s):

- Reg. No. 6809870 ("COMMANDERS' CLASSIC" in standard character form for "entertainment services, namely, organizing, promoting and staging annual intercollegiate football games where the entertainment services are sold in connection with football competitions, between U.S. military academies, none of the foregoing relate to hunting or fishing")
- Reg. No. 6809871 ("COMMANDERS' CLASSIC" in standard character form for "clothing, namely, t-shirts, shirts, caps, shorts, sweatshirts, hoodies, and pants where the clothing is sold in connection with football competitions, between U.S. military academies, none of the foregoing relate to hunting or fishing")

Trademark Act Section 2(d), 15 U.S.C. §1052(d); see TMEP §§1207.01 et seq. See the attached registration(s).

Trademark Act Section 2(d) bars registration of an applied-for mark that so resembles a registered mark that it is likely a potential consumer would be confused, mistaken, or deceived as to the source of the goods and/or services of the applicant and registrant. See 15 U.S.C. §1052(d). A determination of likelihood of confusion under Section 2(d) is made on a case-by case basis and the factors set forth in In re E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., 476 F.2d 1357, 1361, 177 USPQ 563, 567 (C.C.P.A. 1973) aid in this determination. Citigroup Inc. v. Capital City Bank Grp., Inc., 637 F.3d 1344, 1349, 98 USPQ2d 1253, 1256 (Fed. Cir. 2011) (citing On-Line Careline, Inc. v. Am. Online, Inc., 229 F.3d 1080, 1085, 56 USPQ2d 1471, 1474 (Fed. Cir. 2000)). Not all the du Pont factors, however, are necessarily relevant or of equal weight, and any one of the factors may control in a given case, depending upon the evidence of record. Citigroup Inc. v. Capital City Bank Grp., Inc., 637 F.3d at 1355, 98 USPQ2d at 1260; In re Majestic Distilling Co., 315 F.3d 1311, 1315, 65 USPQ2d 1201, 1204 (Fed. Cir. 2003); see In re E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., 476 F.2d at 1361-62, 177 USPQ at 567.

In this case, the following factors are the most relevant: similarity of the marks, similarity and nature of the goods and/or services, and similarity of the trade channels of the goods and/or services. See In re Viterra Inc., 671 F.3d 1358, 1361-62, 101 USPQ2d 1905, 1908 (Fed. Cir. 2012); In re Dakin's Miniatures Inc., 59 USPQ2d 1593, 1595-96 (TTAB 1999); TMEP §1207.01 et seq.

Comparison of the Marks

The applied-for mark is "WASHINGTON COMMANDERS" in design plus word mark form. The marks in the registrations are indicated above.

Marks are compared in their entireties for similarities in appearance, sound, connotation, and commercial impression. Stone Lion Capital Partners, LP v. Lion Capital LLP, 746 F.3d 1317, 1321, 110 USPQ2d 1157, 1160 (Fed. Cir. 2014) (quoting Palm Bay Imps., Inc. v. Veuve Clicquot Ponsardin Maison Fondee En 1772, 396 F.3d 1369, 1371, 73 USPQ2d 1689, 1691 (Fed. Cir. 2005)); TMEP §1207.01(b)-(b)(v). "Similarity in any one of these elements may be sufficient to find the marks confusingly similar." In re Davia, 110 USPQ2d 1810, 1812 (TTAB 2014) (citing In re 1st USA Realty Prof'ls, Inc., 84 USPQ2d 1581, 1586 (TTAB 2007)); In re White Swan Ltd., 8 USPQ2d 1534, 1535 (TTAB 1988)); TMEP §1207.01(b).

The applicant's mark contains design elements, however, when evaluating a composite mark consisting of words and a design, the word portion is normally accorded greater weight because it is likely to make a greater impression upon purchasers, be remembered by them, and be used by them to refer to or request the goods and/or services. In re Viterra Inc., 671 F.3d 1358, 1362, 101 USPQ2d 1905, 1908 (Fed. Cir. 2012) (quoting CBS Inc. v. Morrow, 708 F.2d 1579, 1581-82, 218 USPQ 198, 200 (Fed. Cir. 1983)); Made in Nature, LLC v. Pharmavite LLC, 2022 USPQ2d 557, at *41 (TTAB 2022) (quoting Sabhnani v. Mirage Brands, LLC, 2021 USPQ2d 1241, at *31 (TTAB 2021)); TMEP §1207.01(c)(ii). Thus, although marks must be compared in their entireties, the word portion is often considered the dominant feature and is accorded greater weight in determining whether marks are confusingly similar, even where the word portion has been disclaimed. In re Viterra Inc., 671 F.3d at 1366-67, 101 USPQ2d at 1911 (citing Giant Food, Inc. v. Nation's Foodservice, Inc., 710 F.2d 1565, 1570-71, 218 USPQ2d 390, 395 (Fed. Cir. 1983)). As such, the word portion of the mark represents its more significant element.

Although marks are compared in their entireties, one feature of a mark may be more significant or dominant in creating a commercial impression. See In re Detroit Athletic Co., 903 F.3d 1297, 1305, 128 USPQ2d 1047, 1050 (Fed. Cir. 2018) (citing In re Dixie Rests., 105 F.3d 1405, 1407, 41 USPQ2d 1531, 1533-34 (Fed. Cir. 1997)); TMEP §1207.01(b)(viii), (c)(ii). Matter that is descriptive of or generic for a party's goods and/or services is typically less significant or less dominant in relation to other wording in a mark. See Anheuser-Busch, LLC v. Innvopak Sys. Pty Ltd., 115 USPQ2d 1816, 1824-25 (TTAB 2015) (citing In re Chatam Int'l Inc., 380 F.3d 1340, 1342-43, 71 USPQ2d 1944, 1946 (Fed. Cir. 2004)). In the present case, please see the discussion in the "REQUIREMENT - DISCLAIMER" section of the Office action showing that the term "WASHINGTON" in the applied-for mark is geographically descriptive for the applicant's goods and services. Thus, this wording is less significant in terms of affecting the mark's commercial impression, and renders the wording "COMMANDERS" the more dominant element of the mark.

Similarly, the wording "COMMANDERS" in the registered marks represents their dominant elements as consumers are generally more inclined to focus on the first word in any trademark or service mark. See Palm Bay Imps., Inc. v. Veuve Clicquot Ponsardin Maison Fondee En 1772, 396 F.3d 1369, 1372, 73 USPQ2d 1689, 1692 (Fed. Cir. 2005) (finding similarity between VEUVE ROYALE and two VEUVE CLICQUOT marks in part because “VEUVE . . . remains a ‘prominent feature’ as the first word in the mark and the first word to appear on the label”); Century 21 Real Estate Corp. v. Century Life of Am., 970 F.2d 874, 876, 23 USPQ2d 1698, 1700 (Fed. Cir. 1992) (finding similarity between CENTURY 21 and CENTURY LIFE OF AMERICA in part because “consumers must first notice th[e] identical lead word”); see also In re Detroit Athletic Co., 903 F.3d 1297, 1303, 128 USPQ2d 1047, 1049 (Fed. Cir. 2018) (finding “the identity of the marks’ two initial words is particularly significant because consumers typically notice those words first”). Furthermore in Reg. No. 6809870 the word “CLASSIC” has been disclaimed and disclaimed matter that is descriptive of or generic for a party’s goods and/or services is typically less significant or less dominant when comparing marks. See In re Detroit Athletic Co., 903 F.3d 1297, 1305, 128 USPQ2d 1047, 1050 (Fed. Cir. 2018) (citing In re Dixie Rests., Inc., 105 F.3d 1405, 1407, 41 USPQ2d 1531, 1533-34 (Fed. Cir. 1997)); Made in Nature, LLC v. Pharmavite LLC, 2022 USPQ2d 557, at *41 (TTAB 2022); TMEP §1207.01(b)(viii), (c)(ii).

The dominant portion of the applicant's mark is the term “COMMANDERS” and the dominant term of the registered marks is the possessive version of this wording. The additional apostrophe in the registered marks has little, if any, trademark significance and does not otherwise affect the overall similarity of the marks in terms of commercial impression. See In re Binion, 93 USPQ2d 1531, 1534 (TTAB 2009) (noting that “[t]he absence of the possessive form in applicant’s mark . . . has little, if any, significance for consumers in distinguishing it from the cited mark”); In re Curtice-Burns, Inc., 231 USPQ 990, 992 (TTAB 1986) (finding the marks McKENZIE’S and McKENZIE “virtually identical in commercial impression”); Winn’s Stores, Inc. v. Hi-Lo, Inc., 203 USPQ 140, 143 (TTAB 1979) (noting that “little if any trademark significance can be attributed to the apostrophe and the letter ‘s’ in opposer’s mark”).

The marks in the registrations are also in standard character form and a mark in typed or standard characters may be displayed in any lettering style; the rights reside in the wording or other literal element and not in any particular display or rendition. See In re Viterro Inc., 671 F.3d 1358, 1363, 101 USPQ2d 1905, 1909 (Fed. Cir. 2012); In re Mighty Leaf Tea, 601 F.3d 1342, 1348, 94 USPQ2d 1257, 1260 (Fed. Cir. 2010); 37 C.F.R. §2.52(a); TMEP §1207.01(c)(iii). Thus, a mark presented in stylized characters and/or with a design element generally will not avoid likelihood of confusion with a mark in typed or standard characters because the word portion could be presented in the same manner of display. See, e.g., In re Viterro Inc., 671 F.3d at 1363, 101 USPQ2d at 1909; Squirtco v. Tomy Corp., 697 F.2d 1038, 1041, 216 USPQ 937, 939 (Fed. Cir. 1983) (stating that “the argument concerning a difference in type style is not viable where one party asserts rights in no particular display”). As such, the “COMMANDERS” portion of the registered marks could be displayed in the exact same font and stylization as how the virtually identical “COMMANDERS” wording appears in the applicant's mark, and potentially alongside the same additional design elements.

Each of the marks shares the term “COMMANDERS” or its possessive as its dominant element and uses this wording in connection with related goods and services. Marks may be confusingly similar in appearance where similar terms appear in the compared marks and create a similar overall commercial impression. See Crocker Nat’l Bank v. Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, 228 USPQ 689, 690-91 (TTAB 1986), aff’d sub nom. Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce v. Wells Fargo Bank, Nat’l Ass’n, 811 F.2d 1490, 1495, 1 USPQ2d 1813, 1817 (Fed. Cir. 1987); In re Corning Glass Works, 229 USPQ 65, 66 (TTAB 1985); In re Pellerin Milnor Corp., 221 USPQ 558, 560 (TTAB 1983); TMEP §1207.01(b)(ii)-(iii).

As such, viewed as a whole, applicant’s mark is confusingly similar to the registered marks.

Comparison of the Goods and Services

Applicant's goods and services are "Clothing, footwear and headwear, namely, caps, hats, visors, headbands, ear muffs, wristbands, tops, t-shirts, tank tops, sleepwear, golf shirts, sweaters, sweatshirts, turtlenecks, jackets, neckties, bibs not of paper, jerseys, coats, robes, ponchos, sneakers, gloves, scarves, mittens, aprons, shorts, sweatpants, jeans, pants, socks, underwear, swimwear, rompers" and "Education and entertainment services in the nature of professional football games and exhibitions; providing sports and entertainment information via a global computer network or a commercial on-line computer service or by cable, satellite, television and radio; arranging and conducting athletic competitions, namely, professional football games and exhibitions; football fan club services; entertainment services, namely, musical and dance performances provided during intervals at sports events; educational services, namely, physical education programs; production of radio and television programs; live shows featuring football games, football exhibitions, and football competitions, live shows featuring music and dance performances, organizing sporting and cultural events featuring football." The goods and services from the registrations are listed further above.

Determining likelihood of confusion is based on the description of the goods and/or services stated in the application and registration at issue, not on extrinsic evidence of actual use. See In re Detroit Athletic Co., 903 F.3d 1297, 1307, 128 USPQ2d 1047, 1052 (Fed. Cir. 2018) (citing In re i.am.symbolic, llc, 866 F.3d 1315, 1325, 123 USPQ2d 1744, 1749 (Fed. Cir. 2017)).

In this case, the application uses the broad wording "t-shirts, to describe its clothing goods, which presumably encompasses all goods of the type described, including the more narrowly defined "clothing, namely, t-shirts, caps, shorts, sweatshirts, hoodies, and pants where the clothing is sold in connection with football competitions, between U.S. military academies, none of the foregoing relate to hunting or fishing" from Reg. No. 6809871. See, e.g., Made in Nature, LLC v. Pharmavite LLC, 2022 USPQ2d 557, at *44 (TTAB 2022); In re Solid State Design Inc., 125 USPQ2d 1409, 1412-15 (TTAB 2018); Sw. Mgmt., Inc. v. Ocinomled, Ltd., 115 USPQ2d 1007, 1025 (TTAB 2015). The goods and services in the application include a variety of types of clothing items such as jerseys, sweatshirts, shorts, swimwear and jackets and the goods in Reg. The attached evidence relating to the New England Patriots, San Francisco 49ers and Chicago Bears shows that it is common for entities to produce a very large variety of different sports themed clothing.

The attached Internet evidence consists of screenshots relating to the Army-Navy Game, the Military Bowl and the Armed Forces Bowl, each of which stages and provides information relating to athletic competitions in the nature of televised football games and related exhibitions and events featuring performances and activities for fans. These competitions also include United States military academies. This evidence also shows that the sources of these events produce a variety of clothing items themed as particularly relating to the events. The evidence from SBNation and Fox Sports shows that professional sports teams also often organize and host intercollegiate sporting events. This and the additional clothing evidence establishes that the same entity commonly produces or provides the relevant or similar goods and services and markets the goods and services under the same mark and also that the relevant or similar goods and services are sold or provided through the same trade channels and used by the same classes of consumers in the same fields of use. Therefore, applicant’s and registrant’s goods and services are considered related for likelihood of confusion purposes.

Although applicant’s mark has been refused registration, applicant may respond to the refusal(s) by submitting evidence and arguments in support of registration. Applicant should note the following potential grounds for refusal.

POTENTIAL REFUSAL - PRIOR-FILED APPLICATIONS

The filing dates of pending U.S. Application Serial Nos. 90895275, 90895261 precede applicant’s filing date. See attached referenced applications. If one or more of the marks in the referenced applications register, applicant's mark may be refused registration under Trademark Act Section 2(d) because of a likelihood of confusion with the registered mark(s). See 15 U.S.C. §1052(d); 37 C.F.R. §2.83; TMEP §§1208 et seq. Therefore, upon receipt of applicant's response to this Office action, action on this application may be suspended pending final disposition of the earlier-filed referenced applications.

In response to this Office action, applicant may present arguments in support of registration by addressing the issue of the potential conflict between applicant's mark and the marks in the referenced applications. Applicant's election not to submit arguments at this time in no way limits applicant's right to address this issue later if a refusal under Section 2(d) issues.

Upon receipt of applicant's response resolving the following requirement(s), action on this application may be suspended pending the disposition of U.S. Application Serial No(s). 90895275, 90895261. 37 C.F.R. §2.83(c); TMEP §§716.02(c), 1208.02(c).

REQUIREMENT - DISCLAIMER

Applicant must disclaim the wording "WASHINGTON" because it is primarily geographically descriptive of the origin of applicant's goods and/or services. See 15 U.S.C. §§1052(e)(2), 1056(a); In re Societe Generale des Eaux Minerales de Vittel S.A., 824 F.2d 957, 959, 3 USPQ2d 1450, 1451-52 (Fed. Cir. 1987); TMEP §§1210.01(a), 1210.06(a), 1213.03(a).

The attached evidence from The Columbia Encyclopedia shows that this wording refers to Washington, D.C. which is a generally known geographic place or location. See TMEP §§1210.02 et seq. The goods and/or services for which applicant seeks registration originate in this geographic place or location as shown by applicant's address which is located in Ashburn, Virginia which the attached evidence from Wikipedia indicates "is 30 miles (48 km) northwest of Washington, D.C., and part of the Washington metropolitan area" and is therefore near to the named geographic location. See TMEP §1210.03.

A product that is produced or a service that is provided near the geographic place named in the applied-for mark is sufficient to support a finding that the goods and/or services originate in that geographic location. See, e.g., City of London Distillery, Ltd. v. Hayman Grp. Ltd., 2020 USPQ2d 11487, at *9-10 (TTAB 2020) (holding CITY OF LONDON primarily geographically descriptive of gin distilled within and bottled near the city limits of London); In re Spirits of New Merced, LLC, 85 USPQ2d 1614, 1621 (TTAB 2007) (holding YOSEMITE BEER primarily geographically descriptive of beer produced and sold in Merced, California, a city located 80 miles from Yosemite National Park, where the goods originated in an area "located near YOSEMITE"); In re Joint-Stock Co. "Baik," 80 USPQ2d 1305, 1310-11 (TTAB 2006) (holding BAIKALSKAYA, the Russian equivalent of "from Baikal" or "Baikal's," primarily geographically descriptive of vodka where applicant was located near Lake Baikal, and applicant did not dispute that it produced vodka from a location near and used water from Lake Baikal). The Trademark Trial and Appeal Board has stated that the purpose of Trademark Act Section 2(e)(2) is "to leave geographic names free for all businesses operating in the same area to inform customers where their goods or services originate." In re Spirits of New Merced, 85 USPQ2d at 1621 (citing In re MCO Props. Inc., 38 USPQ2d 1154, 1156 (TTAB 1995)).

Because the goods and/or services are deemed to originate in this place or location due to applicant's location being near to Washington, D.C., a public association of the goods and/or services with the place is presumed. See In re Hollywood Lawyers Online, 110 USPQ2d 1852, 1858 (TTAB 2014)

(citing In re Spirits of New Merced, LLC, 85 USPQ2d 1614, 1621 (TTAB 2007)); TMEP §§1210.02(a) 1210.04.

Applicant may respond to this issue by submitting a disclaimer in the following format:

No claim is made to the exclusive right to use “WASHINGTON” apart from the mark as shown.

Washington, D.C.

from The Columbia Encyclopedia

capital of the United States, coextensive (since 1878, when Georgetown became a part of Washington) with the District of Columbia (2000 pop. 572,059), on the Potomac River; inc. 1802. The city is the center of a metropolitan area (1990 pop. 3,923,574) extending into Maryland and Virginia. With the city of Baltimore to its north in Maryland, it forms a consolidated metropolitan area of some 6.7 million people. Washington is the legislative, administrative, and judicial center of the United States but has little industry; its business is government, and hundreds of thousands are so employed in the metropolitan area. The city is also a major tourist attraction and a cultural center.

Washington has long been a gateway for African Americans emigrating from the South, and since the 1960s has had a (now diminishing) black majority. Many citizens live in poverty, and social problems have been exacerbated by the transient nature of the governmental workforce and the District's lack of political power.

Transportation facilities include a subway system that connects the city with many suburbs. The main rail and air hubs are Union Station and Ronald Reagan Washington National and Dulles International airports (both in Virginia). Nearby military installations include Fort McNair, Fort Myer, Andrews Air Force Base, and Bolling Air Force Base.

Landmarks

The city spreads out over 69 sq mi (179 sq km), including 8 sq mi (20.7 sq km) of water surface, with tree-shaded thoroughfares and many open vistas. Numerous impressive government buildings near the city's center are built of white or gray stone in the classical style, and there are many fine homes. Among other attractive buildings are the embassies and legations of many foreign countries, many of them lining "Embassy Row" on Massachusetts Ave. The larger of the city's fine parks are West Potomac Park, which extends S from the Lincoln Memorial and includes the Tidal Basin, flanked by the famous Japanese cherry trees; East Potomac Park, an area of reclaimed land jutting S from the Jefferson Memorial; Rock Creek Park, with almost 1,800 acres (728 hectares) of natural woodlands and extensive recreation facilities, and the adjoining National Zoological Park; and Anacostia Park, adjacent to the National Arboretum.

Besides the Capitol and the White House, other important government buildings and places of historic interest include the Senate and House of Representatives office buildings, the Supreme Court Building, the Pentagon (in Virginia), the Federal Bureau of Investigation building, the Library of Congress, the National Archives Building, Constitution Hall, the Ronald Reagan Building, the Watergate apartment complex, the State Department ("Foggy Bottom"), and the headquarters of the World Bank. Ford's Theatre, where Lincoln was shot, has been restored. In 1974 the Admiral's House at the U.S. Naval Observatory became the official residence of the vice president. Of historic interest is Fort Washington (built 1805, destroyed 1814, rebuilt by 1824).

Best known of the city's many statues and monuments are the Washington Monument, at the western end of the long grass-covered National Mall; the Lincoln Memorial, with its reflecting pool; the nearby Vietnam Veterans Memorial and the Korean War Veterans Memorial flanking the pool and the World War II Memorial at the pool's far end; and the Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial, the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial, and the Thomas Jefferson Memorial, all overlooking the Tidal Basin. Among Washington's famous churches are Washington National Cathedral (Episcopal), which was completed in 1990; and the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, the largest Roman Catholic church in the United States. The city also contains Nationals Park, the home to major-league baseball's Nationals, and the Capitals (hockey) and Wizards (basketball) play in the Verizon Center. The Washington Redskins play in nearby Landover, Md.

The Arlington Memorial Bridge across the Potomac connects the capital with Arlington National Cemetery. Also in Arlington is the U.S. Marine Corps War Memorial, one of the largest statues ever cast in bronze, and the U.S. Air Force Memorial. In the Potomac itself lies Theodore Roosevelt Island, thickly wooded and with many foot trails.

Educational, Cultural, and Scientific Institutions

The city's many institutions of higher education include American Univ., the National Defense College, the Catholic Univ. of America, Georgetown Univ., George Washington Univ., Howard Univ., and the Univ. of the District of Columbia. Among many cultural attractions are the National Gallery of Art, the Freer Gallery of Art, and the other centers under the

The city's many institutions of higher education include American Univ., the National Defense College, the Catholic Univ. of America, Georgetown Univ., George Washington Univ., Howard Univ., and the Univ. of the District of Columbia. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts; the Corcoran Gallery of Art; the Phillips Collection; the Folger Shakespeare Library; and the Newseum. Major visitor draws on the Mall include the National Air and Space Museum, the Holocaust Museum, and the National Museum of the American Indian.

The U.S. Naval Observatory, the U.S. Naval Research Laboratory, the Smithsonian Institution, the Brookings Institution, and the Carnegie Institution of Washington are among the institutions dedicated to scientific research and education. Also in Washington is the U.S. Soldiers' and Airmen's Home (1851). Nearby are the National Institutes of Health and Walter Reed National Military Medical Center (Bethesda, Md.) and the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture research center (Beltsville, Md.)

Government

The present system of government (in operation since 1975) provides for an elected mayor and city council but reserves for Congress veto power over the budget and legislation and direct control over an enclave containing most of the federal buildings and monuments.

The Twenty-third Amendment (1961) to the Constitution gave inhabitants the right to vote in presidential elections; the District of Columbia was accorded three electoral votes, the minimum number. In 1970 legislation authorized election of a nonvoting delegate to the House of Representatives. There have been several unsuccessful attempts by the District of Columbia to gain statehood and achieve full representation in Congress.

With the city facing insolvency in 1995, Congress created a financial control board with a mandate to supervise municipal finances. Granted virtual authority over the city, the board concentrated on reducing the municipal workforce, paring services and programs, stimulating the economy, retaining a middle-class presence, and transferring prison and other costly operations to the federal government; it continued its oversight until the District had four successive balanced budgets (2001).

History

In 1790 the rivalry of Northern and Southern states for the capital's location ended when Jefferson's followers supported Hamilton's program for federal assumption of state debts in return for an agreement to situate the national capital on the banks of the Potomac River. George Washington selected the exact spot. The "Federal City" was designed by Pierre L'Enfant and laid out by Andrew Ellicott. Construction began on the White House in 1792 and on the Capitol the following year.

John Adams was the first president to occupy the White House. Congress held its first session in Washington in 1800, and Thomas Jefferson was the first president to be inaugurated in the new capital. In the War of 1812 the British sacked (1814) Washington, burning most of the public buildings, including the Capitol and the White House.

The city grew slowly. Even after 1850 it was still "a sea of mud," and not until the 20th cent. did it cease to be an unkempt rural city and assume its present urban aspect. Though strongly manned during the Civil War, it was several times threatened by the Confederates, notably by Gen. Jubal A. Early in 1864. In 1871, Washington lost its charter as a city and a territorial government was inaugurated to govern the entire District of Columbia. Congress took direct control of the District's government in 1874, providing for a mayor appointed by the President and a commission chosen by Congress; the residents were disfranchised. After 1901, Washington was developed on the basis of the resurrected L'Enfant plan—a gridiron arrangement of streets cut by diagonal avenues radiating from the Capitol and White House, with an elaborate system of parks.

Through the years the city has been a focus for national political activity. In 1932 Bonus Marchers lived in its parks until they were evicted by the army. In the 1960s and early 70s hundreds of thousands demonstrated for civil rights and against the war in Vietnam, and massive rallies have become a recurrent part of Washington life.

Washington's population has declined steadily since the 1950s; much of the outmigration has been to affluent suburbs in Virginia and Maryland. In Apr., 1968, the assassination in Memphis, Tenn., of Martin Luther King, Jr., touched off riots in Washington, and population loss accelerated. The long mayoralties (1980–91, 1995–98) of Marion Barry were fraught with corruption and controversy, which retarded attempts by the city and by federal authorities to resolve economic and social issues. The Washington metropolitan area was shaken in Sept., 2001, by a terrorist attack on the Pentagon and reports that the White House had been among the terrorists' possible targets.

Coordinates: 39°01′48″N 077°28′16″W

Ashburn is a census-designated place (CDP) in Loudoun County, Virginia, United States. At the 2010 United States Census, its population was 43,511,^[4] up from 3,393 twenty years earlier. It is 30 miles (48 km) northwest of Washington, D.C., and part of the Washington metropolitan area.

Ashburn is a major hub for internet traffic, due to its many data centers. Andrew Blum characterized it as the "bullseye of America's Internet".^[6]

History

Ashburn was originally called "Farmwell" (variant names include "Old Farmwell" and "Farmwell Station") after a nearby mansion of that name owned by George Lee III. The name "Farmwell" first appeared in George Lee's October 1802 will and was used to describe the 1,236-acre (500 ha) plantation he inherited from his father, Thomas Ludwell Lee II. A section of Farmwell plantation west of Ashburn Road, a 580-acre (230 ha) tract, was purchased in 1841 as a summer home by John Janney, a Quaker lawyer who nearly became Vice President of the United States. Janney called the property "Ashburn Farm"; the name's first known appearance in writing is 1870 when he sold the property. It is likely he named the farm after family friends whose name was Ashburn.^[7]

The Ashburn Presbyterian Church, the Belmont Manor House, the Broad Run Bridge and Tollhouse, and Janelia Farm are listed on the National Register of Historic Places.^[8]

Geography

Ashburn is located in eastern Loudoun County at 39°02′37″N 077°29′15″W (39.0437192, −77.4874899) and its average elevation is 295 feet (90 m) above sea level.^[1] It is 7 miles (11 km) southeast of Leesburg, the county seat, and the same distance north of Dulles International Airport. As drawn by the U.S. Census Bureau, the area counted as "Ashburn" extends north to Virginia State Route 7, east to Virginia State Route 28, and southwest to the Dulles Greenway (VA 267).^[6] The Ashburn CDP is bordered to the north by the Belmont, Lansdowne, One Loudoun, and University Center CDPs; to the east by the Kincora, Dulles Town Center, and Sterling CDPs; to the southwest by the Moorefield and Broadlands CDPs; and to the west by the Goose Creek Village CDP.^[9]

According to the 2010 United States Census, the Ashburn CDP has a total area of 15.55 square miles (40.27 km²), of which 15.30 square miles (39.63 km²) are land and 0.25 square miles (0.65 km²) are water.^[2] The area is drained by Broad Run, which flows northward through the eastern part of the CDP toward the Potomac River.

The Army–Navy Game is an American college football rivalry game between the Army Black Knights of the United States Military Academy (USMA) at West Point, New York, and the Navy Midshipmen of the United States Naval Academy (USNA) at Annapolis, Maryland. The Black Knights, or Cadets, and Midshipmen each represent their service's oldest officer commissioning sources. As such, the game has come to embody the spirit of the Interservice Rivalry of the United States Armed Forces. The game marks the end of the college football regular season and the third and final game of the season's Commander-in-Chief's Trophy series, which also includes the Air Force Falcons of the United States Air Force Academy (USFA) near Colorado Springs, Colorado.

The Army–Navy game is one of the most traditional and enduring rivalries in college football. It has been frequently attended by sitting U.S. presidents.^[1] The game has been nationally televised each year since 1945 on either ABC, CBS, or NBC. CBS has televised the game since 1996 and has the rights to the broadcast through 2028.^[2] With the exception of 2022, ESPN's College GameDay has been televised from the game site on a yearly basis since 2014. Instant replay made its American debut in the 1963 Army–Navy game.^[3] Since 2009, the game has been held on the second Saturday of December and following FBS conference championship weekend^[4]

The game is primarily played in Philadelphia, but the game has also been held in multiple locations including Chicago in 1926 and Pasadena, California in 1983. After Philadelphia, the New York area and the Baltimore–Washington area have most frequently hosted the game.

Through the 2022 meeting, Navy leads the series 62-54-7.

Series history [edit]

Army and Navy first met on the field on November 29, 1890. They have met annually all but five years since then, and in every season since 1930. The game has been held at several locations throughout its history, including New York City and Baltimore, but has most frequently been played in Philadelphia, roughly equidistant from the two academies. Historically played on the Saturday after Thanksgiving (a date on which most other major college football teams end their regular seasons), the game is now played on the second Saturday in December and is traditionally the last regular-season game played in NCAA Division I football.

Series history [edit]

Army and Navy first met on the field on November 29, 1890. They have met annually all but five years since then, and in every season since 1930. The game has been held at several locations throughout its history, including New York City and Baltimore, but has most frequently been played in Philadelphia, roughly equidistant from the two academies. Historically played on the Saturday after Thanksgiving (a date on which most other major college football teams end their regular seasons), the game is now played on the second Saturday in December and is traditionally the last regular-season game played in NCAA Division I football.

For much of the first two thirds of the 20th century, both Army and Navy were often national powers, and the game occasionally had national championship implications. However, as the level of play in college football increased, the high academic entrance requirements, and height and weight limits reduced the overall competitiveness of both academies. Since 1963, only the 1996, 2010, 2016 and 2017 games have seen both teams enter with winning records. Nonetheless, the game is considered a college football institution. It has aired nationally on radio since 1930, and has been nationally televised every year since 1945, remaining an over-the-air broadcast even in the age of cable and satellite.

The game is especially emotional for the seniors, called "first classmen" by both academies, since it is typically the last competitive regular season football game they will ever play (though they sometimes play in a subsequent bowl game). However, some participants in the Army–Navy Game have gone on to professional football careers. For example, quarterback Roger Staubach (Navy, 1965) went on to a Hall of Fame career with the Dallas Cowboys that included starting at quarterback in two Super Bowl victories including being named the Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl VI and Alejandro Villanueva (Army, 2010) was later an offensive tackle with the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Baltimore Ravens.^[a]

The game is the last of three contests in the annual Commander-in-Chief's Trophy series, awarded to each season's winner of the triangular series among Army, Navy, and Air Force since 1972. The rivalries Army and Navy have with Air Force are much less intense than the Army–Navy rivalry, primarily due to the relative youth of the USAFA, established in 1954, and the physical distance between the USAFA and the other two schools. The Army–Air Force and Navy–Air Force games are usually played at the academies' regular home fields, although on occasion they have been held at a neutral field.

2002 Army–Navy Game at Giants Stadium (Navy is in dark and Army is in white.)

Since 1901, there have been ten sitting presidents of the United States to attend the Army–Navy Game. The first was Theodore Roosevelt, who attended the game in 1901 and 1905. Harry S. Truman attended all but one edition during his eight years in office (1945–1952), missing the 1951 game due to vacation. George W. Bush and Donald Trump each attended three times; Bush in 2001, 2004, and 2008, and Trump in 2018, 2019, and 2020. Trump also attended a game as president-elect in 2016.^{[a][b]} John F. Kennedy attended both games played during his presidency in 1961 and 1963.^[a]

Traditions [edit]

The rivalry between Annapolis and West Point, while friendly, is intense. The phrases "Beat Navy!" and "Beat Army!" are ingrained in the respective institutions and have become a symbol of competitiveness, not just in the Army–Navy Game, but in the service of the country. The phrases are often used at the close of (informal) letters by graduates of both academies. A long-standing tradition at the Army–Navy football game is to conduct a formal "prisoner exchange" as part of the pre-game activities. The prisoners are the cadets and midshipmen currently spending the semester studying at the sister academy. After the exchange, students have a brief reprieve to enjoy the game with their comrades.^[]

The American national anthem is sung by members of the United States Military Academy and the United States Naval Academy choirs.^[] At the end of the game, both teams' almae matres are performed. The winning team stands alongside the losing team and faces the losing academy's students; then the losing team accompanies the winning team, facing their students.^[] This is done in a show of mutual respect and solidarity. Since the winning team's alma mater is always played last, the phrase "sing second" has become synonymous with winning the rivalry game.

Notable games [edit]

Navy Midshipman (and later Admiral) Joseph Mason Reeves wore what is widely regarded as the first football helmet in the 1893 Army–Navy Game. He had been advised by a Navy doctor that another kick to his head would result in intellectual disability or even death, so he commissioned an Annapolis shoemaker to make him a helmet out of leather.^[]^[]

On November 27, 1926, the Army–Navy Game was held in Chicago for the National Dedication of Soldier Field as a monument to American servicemen who had fought in World War I. Navy came to the game undefeated, while West Point had only lost to Notre Dame, so the game would decide the National Championship. Played before a crowd of over 100,000, the teams fought to a 21–21 tie, but Navy was awarded the national championship.^[]

In both the 1944 and 1945 contests, Army and Navy entered the game ranked #1 and #2 respectively.^[] The 1945 game was labeled the "game of the century" before it was played. Army defeated a 7–0–1 Navy team 32–13. Navy's tie was against Notre Dame.^[]

In 1963, shortly after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, Jacqueline Kennedy urged the academies to play after there had been talk of cancellation. Originally scheduled for November 30, 1963, the game was played on December 7, 1963, also coinciding with the 22nd anniversary of Pearl Harbor Day.^[] In front of a crowd of 102,000 people in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium, later renamed John F. Kennedy Stadium, junior (second class midshipman) quarterback Roger Staubach led number two ranked Navy to victory which clinched a Cotton Bowl national championship matchup with Texas. Army was led by junior (second class cadet) quarterback Rolie Stichweh. Stichweh led off the game with a touchdown drive that featured the first use of instant replay on television. Army nearly won the game after another touchdown and two point conversion. Stichweh recovered the onside kick and drove the ball to the Navy 2 yard line. On 4th down and no timeouts, crowd noise prevented

NAVY CRUISES BY VIRGINIA 49-7 IN THE 10TH ANNIVERSARY MILITARY BOWL PRESENTED BY NORTHROP GRUMMAN

ANNAPOLIS, Md. – The Virginia Cavaliers started off with a bang in the 10th anniversary Military Bowl presented by Northrop Grumman, benefiting the USO. The rest of the game, however, belonged to the Navy Midshipmen.

Starting quarterback Malcolm Perry rushed for 114 yards and two touchdowns before leaving the game with an injury, but Navy's other quarterback Zach Abey finished with 88 yards rushing and a Military Bowl-record five touchdowns to lead the Midshipmen to a 49-7 victory over Virginia on Thursday before a soldout crowd of 35,921 at Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium.

It was the largest margin of victory in Military Bowl history and the third Military Bowl in four years played before a capacity crowd.

"To me, this was a momentum-changing win for our program," Navy Coach Ken Niumatalolo said.

On a cold but sunny day that started with the largest Military Bowl Parade yet, 13 Medal of Honor Recipients joined Command Sergeant Major John Troxell, the Senior Enlisted Advisor to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, for the pregame coin toss.

It was the largest margin of victory in Military Bowl history and the third Military Bowl in four years played before a capacity crowd.

"To me, this was a momentum-changing win for our program," Navy Coach Ken Niumatalolo said.

On a cold but sunny day that started with the largest Military Bowl Parade yet, 13 Medal of Honor Recipients joined Command Sergeant Major John Troxell, the Senior Enlisted Advisor to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, for the pregame coin toss.

Miss D.C. Briana Kinsey sang the Star Spangled Banner, then Virginia jumped out to a 7-0 lead just 12 seconds into the game when Joe Reed returned the opening kickoff 98 yards for a touchdown.

But just like Navy's last appearance in the Military Bowl in 2015, after allowing a game-opening kickoff return for a touchdown, the Midshipmen took over.

Abey came off the bench for a pair of 1-yard touchdown runs, sandwiched around 19- and 22-yard touchdown runs by Perry and Navy led 28-7 at halftime.

The Midshipmen (7-6) then lengthened the lead in the second half. After Perry was injured on the first drive of the third quarter, Abey took over all the snaps under center and Navy didn't miss a beat. Abey scored on runs on 5, 20 and 1 yard as the Midshipmen built a 49-7 lead. Abey was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

Navy set several bowl records in the victory, including most rushing attempts (76), most yards rushing (452), fewest passing attempts (1), fewest completions/passing yards (0) and fewest points allowed (7).

"That's the best we've played all year," Niumatalolo said. "We put it together on both sides of the ball. ... The last time we played in this bowl game we had the exact same thing happen to open the game. Our kids didn't panic. I'm proud of our seniors and proud of our team."

Virginia (6-7) struggled on both sides of the ball, finishing with just 175 yards of total offense as Navy held the ball for 42 minutes.

"Thanks to the Military Bowl for the exciting week we had," Virginia quarterback Kurt Benkert said. "I had a blast."

BAG POLICY FAQ

Why did the Military Bowl adopt this policy?

Fan experience and the safety of our guests is a top priority of the Military Bowl. World events continue to shape the methods utilized for venue security and the bowl – along with many other bowl games, collegiate programs and professional leagues – is instituting this policy to enhance public safety and make venue access more efficient and secure by limiting the size and style of bags carried into our venues.

How does the new policy improve public safety?

The clear bag is easily and quickly searched and greatly reduces faulty bag searches. It also supports the Department of Homeland Security's "If You See Something, Say Something" campaign.

How does this make it more convenient for guests?

This will enable fans to move guests through our security checkpoints faster, allowing staff to be more efficient and effective in checking bags that are brought into the venue.

How many bags can each person bring into the venue?

Each ticketed guest can carry one large clear bag – either a one-gallon Ziploc-style bag or the 12" by 6" by 12" clear bag – plus a small clutch purse (4.5" x 6.5"). The small clutch allows privacy for small personal items and also is easily searched.

Can guests carry cameras, binoculars, smart phones or tablets separately from what they put in a clear bag?

Yes. Binoculars, smartphones and/or cameras can be carried into the venue so long as they are not in their own case. Guests may carry in their pockets or jacket keys, makeup, feminine products, combs, phone, wallet, credit cards, etc., if they choose not to put them in a clear bag or clutch.

Are seat cushions/seatbacks allowed to be carried into the venue?

Only approved seat cushions/seatbacks may be carried into the venue. Large traditional seat cushions/seatbacks that have pockets, zippers, compartments or covers are not permitted. Seat cushions and seatbacks without pockets, zippers, compartments or covers are permitted. Seat cushions and seatbacks must be 16" in width or less and no armrests.

What about bringing blankets in cold weather?

Guests may bring blankets by carrying them over a shoulder or arm, allowing guests to be easily screened.

The bowl game was one of two approved by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) for the 2002 college football bowl season, the other being the St. Petersburg Bowl. The NCAA's Postseason Football Licensing Subcommittee approved the bowl on April 30, 2008, allowing the committee that had proposed the game to host it after the 2008 college football season.^[1] The inaugural game had its kickoff scheduled for 11 AM EST on December 20, 2008, making it the first bowl game of the 2008–09 bowl season.

In 2010, organizers announced that the NCAA had granted a four-year extension of the game's bowl certification, taking it through the 2013–14 bowl season;^[12] additionally, the game received sponsorship from Northrop Grumman and was renamed. In 2010, the game generated in excess of $18 million for the Washington, D.C. area. Also, over $100,000 was donated to the USO.^[13]

Conference tie-ins [\[edit \]](#)

Prior to the game's approval by the NCAA, Navy and the Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC) signed agreements to participate in the game if it was approved.^{[14][15]} Under the agreement, the ACC would provide its ninth-best team for the bowl if the league had nine bowl eligible teams.^[16] In December 2008, the initial game featured Navy against Wake Forest representing the ACC.

Along with its ACC tie-in, the bowl signed an agreement with Army to play in the 2009 edition of the game.^{[citation needed]} however Army did not finish its season bowl eligible. Additionally, the ACC did not have enough eligible teams and Conference USA (C-USA) could not provide a team, so organizers chose Mid-American Conference (MAC) team Temple to fill one spot and Pac-10 Conference team UCLA to fill the other spot.

For the 2010 through 2013 games, the bowl reached agreement for an ACC team to face a C-USA team (2010), Navy (2011), Army (2012), and a Big 12 team (2013).^[12] If Navy or Army were not bowl eligible, a Big 12 team would be selected in 2011, and a C-USA team in 2012.^[17] In 2012, Army was not bowl eligible and the ACC could not supply a team,^[18] so a MAC vs. Western Athletic Conference (WAC) matchup was organized.

Starting with the 2014 game, organizers entered a six-year agreement for the game to feature an ACC vs. American Athletic Conference (The American) matchup.^{[4][19]} In July 2019, the bowl announced that the ACC vs. AAC arrangement would continue through the 2025–26 football season.^[20]

LOCKHEED MARTIN ARMED FORCES BOWL BOWL PREVIEW: WHAT MORE COULD YOU ASK FOR GAME NO. 20?

The 20th anniversary game of the Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl offers a dream matchup for the bowl. On one side, a service academy team is making an appearance for the 12th time in the past 16 seasons. On the other sideline, a Big 12 Conference power located just 90 minutes south of Fort Worth resides.

It's a prime-time matchup made for the prime time.

So when Air Force (9-3, 5-3 Mountain West) and Baylor (6-6, 4-5 Big 12) meet at Amon G. Carter Stadium on the night of Dec. 22, expect large crowds, passionate fan bases, big-time football and a spectacle celebrating two decades of bowl and American greatness.

"We are extremely pleased to have Air Force and Baylor competing in the Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl's 20th anniversary game," Executive Director Brant Ringler said. "It is going to be a special celebration, and we are excited that we will have two very deserving, proud programs joining us in Fort Worth."

This marks the sixth time that Air Force is playing in the Armed Forces Bowl, the most by any team, but its first appearance since 2015. The Falcons are riding a season-long four-game winning streak.

The Falcons enter the game leading the nation in rushing (330.9 yard per game), while also ranking first in total defense (256.4 yards per game). Leading the way is MW Offensive Player of the Year Brad Roberts, a senior running back, who has already established new school single-season records with 1,612 rushing yards and 308 carries. He ranks fifth nationally with 134.3 rushing yards per game and led the MW with a school-record 10 100-yard rushing games.

The Falcons are seeking double-digit wins for the second straight year and the third time in four seasons. Head coach Troy Calhoun, who is in his 16th year, has guided Air Force to four 10-win seasons, half of the program's all-time total. Last year, the Falcons secured win No. 10 with a 31-26 victory over Louisville at the First Responder Bowl in Dallas.

Among Baylor's highlights in 2022 are victories over bowl-bound teams Oklahoma, Texas Tech and Kansas during Big 12 play. Baylor averaged 33.6 points per game on the year, topping the 40-point plateau on four occasions and eclipsing the 500-yard plateau five times.

Running back Richard Reese has been a standout on offense, ranking second among NCAA freshmen in rushing touchdowns (14) and rushing yards (962). For his efforts, Reese was named the Big 12 Offensive Freshman of the Year. In all, the Bears have scored 34 touchdowns on the ground. Defensively, Baylor has proven very disruptive, recording 24 sacks, 13 interceptions and forcing nine fumbles with first-team all-conference defensive lineman Slaki Ika leading the charge.

Third-year coach Dave Aranda (20-19) is off to the best 35-game start to a Baylor coaching career since George Sauer in the 1950s. Last year, the Bears secured an impressive 21-7 victory over SEC foe Ole Miss in the Sugar Bowl.

Offensive weaponry. Explosive performances. Tough defenses. All perfect fits for the Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl.

A Look Inside the New Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl Trophy

Held high above the shoulders of champions, the new trophy represents more than victory. A symbol of strength and fortitude, the Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl Trophy stands as a testament to the courage of our brothers and sisters in arms— both past and present — who selflessly serve our country.

The Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl game honors and recognizes the enormous sacrifices that America's military personnel have made on the battlefield. And included within the trophy — the DNA, let's call it, are decommissioned pieces of Lockheed Martin aircraft, spacecraft and weapons that are combat proven, like the Armed Forces that inspired it. Representing each of the six branches of the United States Armed Forces, each piece that goes into the trophy is an iconic symbol befitting of those who answer the call of duty.

OUR HISTORY

HistoryPast MVPsPast Results

The Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl

The Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl celebrated the 20th anniversary of its postseason college football bowl game on December 22, 2022. The Air Force Falcons defeated the Baylor Bears 30-15 in one of the coldest bowl games in history.

Owned and operated by ESPN Events, the Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl has featured the "armed forces" theme since 2006. Patriotic overtones recognizing all six branches of the service are prevalent throughout the game. Past Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowls have included fan-fest areas showcasing armed forces hardware; flyovers; demonstrations by several of the military's top skydiving teams; the awarding of custom homes to wounded warriors; on-field induction ceremonies; armed forces bands and honor guards and the awarding of the annual "Great American Patriot Award" (GAPA) presented by Armed Forces Insurance.

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

The Armed Forces Bowl, formerly the Fort Worth Bowl from 2003 to 2005, is an annual postseason college football bowl game. First played in 2003, the game is normally held at the 45,000-seat Amon G. Carter Stadium on the campus of Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, Texas. The 2010 and 2011 editions were instead played at Gerald J. Ford Stadium in University Park, Texas, when Amon G. Carter Stadium underwent a reconstruction project. The game features teams from a variety of collegiate football conferences; in addition, the independent United States Military Academy (Army) is also eligible to participate. Since 2014, the game has been sponsored by Lockheed Martin and officially known as the Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl. Previous sponsors include Bell Helicopter (2006–2013) and PlainsCapital Bank (2003–2004).

The contest is one of 14 bowls produced by ESPN Events (previously ESPN Regional Television) and has been televised annually on ESPN since its inception. Armed Forces Insurance is the official Insurance Partner of the Armed Forces Bowl and has sponsored the Great American Patriot Award, presented at halftime at the bowl, since 2006.[3]

History

The bowl was first played in December 2003, featuring two ranked teams, No. 18 Boise State and No. 19 TCU. It was the only edition to include a ranked team (per the AP Poll) until No. 22 Army played in December 2018.

In 2010 and 2011 when Amon G. Carter Stadium underwent a reconstruction project, the bowl was moved to Gerald J. Ford Stadium in nearby University Park, Texas.

Through the December 2018 playing, one of the three FBS-playing service academies (Army, Navy, and Air Force) has appeared in the game ten times. Contractual tie-ins with the American Athletic Conference (home of Navy), the Mountain West Conference (home of Air Force) and independent Army assures that one of those schools could appear in the game every year, if bowl-eligible and not already committed to another bowl.

The 2018 game, between Army and Houston, was the first sellout in the bowl's 16-year history.[4]

Sponsorship

The bowl game was inaugurated in 2003 as the PlainsCapital Fort Worth Bowl, reflecting the sponsorship of PlainsCapital Bank. The bank's sponsorship ended after the 2004 edition,[5] and the 2005 game was staged without corporate sponsorship.

In 2006, Fort Worth-based Bell Helicopter Textron took over sponsorship, and thus the name became

The 2018 game, between Army and Houston, was the first sellout in the bowl's 16-year history.^[4]

Sponsorship [edit]

The bowl game was inaugurated in 2003 as the PlainsCapital Fort Worth Bowl, reflecting the sponsorship of PlainsCapital Bank. The bank's sponsorship ended after the 2004 edition,^[5] and the 2005 game was staged without corporate sponsorship.

In 2006, Fort Worth based Bell Helicopter Textron took over sponsorship, and thus the game became officially known as the Bell Helicopter Armed Forces Bowl.^[6] The Bell sponsorship ended after the 2013 edition.^[7] During this time, the 2010 and 2011 Armed Forces Bowl were held at Gerald J. Ford Stadium on the campus of Southern Methodist University in the Dallas enclave of University Park, while Amon G. Carter Stadium was undergoing a major renovation. The game returned to Amon Carter Stadium in Fort Worth in 2012, after construction on that stadium was completed.

Airtel was to assume the title sponsorship and naming rights to the game beginning in 2014, which would have been titled the Airtel Wireless Bowl to promote its mobile division, but the deal fell through.^[citation needed] Instead, Lockheed Martin became the game's sponsor.^[7] The company has a major presence in the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex: the company's Lockheed Martin Aeronautics division is based in Fort Worth while its Lockheed Martin Missiles and Fire Control division is based in nearby Grand Prairie. In December 2018, Lockheed Martin extended its sponsorship though 2025.^[8]

Conference tie-ins [edit]

The bowl's partnership with the Big 12 Conference ended with the 2005 season. From 2006 to 2009, the Mountain West Conference was signed to provide a team to face either a team from the Pac-10 or Conference USA (C-USA), depending on the year. Pac-10 teams would play in odd number years while C-USA teams would play in even numbered years). As such, the 2006 and 2008 games featured C-USA teams Tulsa and Houston, respectively, whereas California represented the Pac-10 in 2007. The Pac-10 was unable to send a representative to the game in 2009, so C-USA sent Houston to the game for a second consecutive year. In 2010, since the Mountain West did not have enough eligible teams and Army was bowl eligible, Army played SMU in the bowl.

Following the 2013 football season, the Armed Forces Bowl signed multi-year agreements with the American Athletic Conference (The American), Big Ten Conference, Big 12 Conference, Mountain West Conference, Army and Navy to set bowl match-ups for the next six seasons (Navy would later join The American).^[1]

In December 2020, it was announced that the 2020 game would be played between teams from the Pac-12 and SEC, following cancellation of the ESPN Events-owned Las Vegas Bowl (which would have been featuring those tie-ins for the first time) due to complications relating to the COVID-19 pandemic.^[8] However, due to a lack of available teams from the Pac-12, Tulsa of the American Athletic Conference was ultimately selected to face Mississippi State of the SEC.

Lambeau Field has become a legendary football venue for all the pro games it has hosted since 1957. In 2016, however, the Green Bay Packers' home stadium will begin a new chapter of its historic existence by hosting its first major college football game.

The Wisconsin Badgers will play the LSU Tigers at Lambeau for the 2016 season opener. Assuming things go off without a hitch, Packers president and CEO Mark Murphy hopes this can become a recurring trend.

"It'll be a tremendous economic impact," Murphy said, via Ryan Wood of Press-Gazette Media. "It'll be felt throughout a good portion of the state. You're going to have people traveling from Madison. It'll be the Saturday night before Labor Day. You're going to have people traveling from Louisiana and Madison, probably staying in hotels all the way down to Milwaukee and other places. The weather will be good then, so it should be a great event for fans across the state."
